Defeating the

ENEMIES

Within

Allen Webster

Christians have enemies without—the devil, ungodly government, persecutors—but the enemies most likely to keep us out of heaven are within. Flip Wilson was famous for saying, “The devil made me do it.” Although the devil does tempt, he cannot make anyone sin. Have you heard it said of someone, “He is his own worst enemy”? That is true of most of us. The three great enemies to a godly life are lust of the flesh, lust of the eyes, and the pride of life (1 John 2:15–17). Since Christ will save us from our sins, but not in our sins, we must defeat these enemies.

THE LUST OF THE FLESH

Christians must deny “ungodliness and worldly lusts” and then “live soberly, righteously, and godly” in this present world (Titus 2:12). Humans are composed of a soul in a body. We are rational creatures capable of determining our own actions. Consequently, the abilities, inclinations, and appetites of both soul and body must be considered. As it is ridiculous that a beast should ride a man, so the physical man should not have dominion over the rational and spiritual man.

The word translated as lust in 1 John 2:16 is a neutral word. It is used of good desires in three New Testament passages: Luke 22:15–16; Philippians 1:23; 1 Thessalonians 2:17. Most of the time it is used of sinful desires.

The lust of the flesh is an evil desire for sinful physical pleasures.

- “If you live according to the flesh, you will die; but if by the Spirit put to death the deeds of the body, you will live” (Romans 8:13).
- “Make no provision for the flesh, to fulfill its lusts” (Romans 13:14).
- “Walk in the Spirit, and you shall not fulfill the lust of the flesh” (Galatians 5:16).
- “When they speak great swelling words of emptiness, they allure through the lusts of the flesh, through lewdness” (2 Peter 2:18).

There are two levels of sinful pleasures—those strictly forbidden and those wrong only in excess, such as overindulgence in food, drink, and entertainment. Lusts of the flesh come from three primary desires:

- Food (reveling, banqueting, gluttony) (Galatians 5:21; 1 Peter 4:3; Deuteronomy 21:20). The lust of the flesh was what both Eve and Jesus faced (Genesis 3:6; Matthew 4:2–3). Some have made their belly their god (Philippians 3:19; cf. 1 Samuel 2:11–16). “The people sat down to eat and drink, and rose up to play” (1 Corinthians 10:7).
- Drink (drunkenness, excess of wine) (Ephesians 5:18; 1 Peter 4:3). Solomon wrote, Wine is a mocker, strong drink is a brawler, and whoever is led astray by it is not wise. . . . Who has woe? Who has sorrow? Who has contentions? Who has complaints? Who has wounds without cause? Who has redness of eyes? Those who linger long at the wine, those who go in search of mixed wine. Do not look on the wine when it is red, when it sparkles in the cup, when it swirls around smoothly; at the last it bites like a serpent, and stings like a viper. Your eyes will see strange things, and your heart will utter perverse things (Proverbs 20:1; 23:29–33).

Richard Blummer wrote of Satan’s lies about alcohol:

We drink for joy and become miserable. We drink for sociability and become argumentative. We drink for sophistication and become obnoxious. We drink to help us sleep and wake exhausted. We drink for exhilaration and end up depressed. We drink to gain confidence and become afraid. We drink to make conversation flow and become incoherent. We drink to diminish problems and see them multiply.¹

Drugs also fit into this category (e.g., marijuana, cocaine) (cf. Romans 6:13).

- Sex (adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lewdness, lusts, covetousness, evil desire) (Galatians 5:20–21; Colossians 3:5). The marital bed is honorable (Hebrews 13:4; Matthew 19:9; 1 Corinthians 7:1–5), but other sexual activity is not. Adultery describes all illicit sexual relations between one or more married individuals. Fornication is a broad term describing any illicit sexual conduct, including premarital sex, and all deviant sexual activity, including homosexuality and bestiality. Works of the flesh keep people from heaven (Galatians 5:19–21). They must be “put to death” (Colossians 3:5).

These are the darkest days America has known. Christians live in a modern-day Sodom with constant tormenting of their souls (Genesis 19; 2 Peter 2:7–8). Children and teens are bombarded with the flesh—drugs, alcohol, sexual perversion, and greed.

To avoid the lusts of the flesh, Christians must understand how sin works and set a strict guard to watch for temptations. James wrote, “Each one is tempted when he is drawn away by his own desires and enticed. Then, when desire has conceived, it gives birth to sin; and sin, when it is full grown, brings forth death” (James 1:14–15). The chaste Joseph is a good example of resisting lust. He repulsed Potiphar’s wife’s solicitations (Genesis 39). Eyes and ears are doors through which sin and death can enter. Polycarp used to stop up his ears at the wicked speeches of heretics. We must keep our bodies in subjection (1 Corinthians 9:27).

THE LUST OF THE EYES

This is the desire to own something because it is beautiful or valuable.

Sight is the largest inlet to sin. Because the mind is influenced by external objects, the eyes must be regulated as far as possible. These vanities are so alluring to the corruption in our hearts, that without constant watching and prayer, we cannot escape the world or obtain victory over the god and prince of it. Job made a covenant with his eyes (Job 31:1). In contrast, some followed their eyes:

- The sons of God saw that the daughters of men were beautiful and took them (Genesis 6:2).
- “When Shechem the son of Hamor the Hivite, prince of the country, saw her, he took her and lay with her, and violated her” (Genesis 34:2).
- Potiphar’s wife saw Joseph was good-looking and wanted to sin with him (Genesis 39:7).
- Achan saw a Babylonian garment, silver, and gold and took them (Joshua 7:21).

“Do not lust after her beauty in your heart, nor let her allure you with her eyelids” (Proverbs 6:25; cf. 2 Samuel 11:2; Matthew 5:28). Some have “eyes full of adultery” (2 Peter 2:14). The Greek historian Xenophon says Cyrus, the King of Persia, would not even look at the fair Panthea, the wife of King Abradatas. She was taken in battle and reserved for him by one of his captains. When one told Cyrus that her beauty was worth seeing, he answered that therefore it was more necessary to abstain from seeing it.²

THE PRIDE OF LIFE

This includes desire for honor, preferment, applause, and revenge (even physical violence and murder). To be proud of one’s beauty, strength, intelligence, wealth, success, accomplishments, possessions, business, or ambition is to be guilty of the pride of life. One can even be proud of unusual things—poverty, social causes, healthy eating, or driving an old car. It includes desiring to

- Get credit for things that others (or God) did.
- Make a name for ourselves (Genesis 11:4). Though we are to value a good name, we are not to desire our own glory.
- Feel more valued than others, as Ananias did (Acts 5:1–12).
- Have positions of power over others to feed our ego. The hermit Ammonius cut off his ear to avoid being chosen as a priest.³
- Do things for the sake of bragging rights.

Those who desire to be great should be the greatest servants (Matthew 23:11). King Saul is one of many Bible characters who allowed pride to destroy him (1 Samuel 15:1–23).

In the parable of the Pharisee and the publican (Luke 18:9–14), the Pharisee thought he was better than others. He should have thought of Solomon's words, "The fear of the LORD is to hate evil; pride and arrogance and the evil way and the perverse mouth I hate" (Proverbs 8:13).

"When pride comes, then comes shame" (11:2); "by pride comes nothing but strife" (13:10); "Pride goes before destruction, and a haughty spirit before a fall" (16:18).

Pride leads to other sins, such as hatred, contentions, wrath, selfish ambitions, dissensions, and heresies (Galatians 5:20–21). Pride keeps Christians from acknowledging sin or repenting of sin, especially when the sin is public (James 5:14–16). Irrational pride keeps some from saying to others, "I am sorry. I have sinned."

Matthew Henry wrote: "The things of the world quickly fade and die away; desire itself will ere long fail and cease, but holy affection is not like the lust that passes away. The love of God shall never fail."⁴

Make Someone's Day

Recently, we were in the dining area of a hotel when an elderly gentleman came into the room. He was by himself. He was obviously struggling with his walker. There were several in the dining area eating, as we were. One lady noticed him and left her food and table and went to the man. She asked if she could go through line with him and help him. His gratitude showed.

After the plate was filled, she placed him at a table, brought his coffee, and offered to cut anything that he needed cut. He was so grateful. You could tell that she had made his day.

Stop and consider what she did. It probably took her about five minutes, and it did not cost her anything, but she made his day. She reminded me of the good Samaritan. —Harry Goff

A Home Without a Bible?

What would your home be like without a Bible? Would it be just as it is now, or would it be very different?

What is a home without a Bible?
'Tis a home where day is night.

Starless night, for o'er Life's path, heaven can shed no kindly light.

What is a home without a Bible?
'Tis a home where daily bread

For the body is provided, but the soul is never fed.

What is a home without a Bible?
'Tis a family out at sea,

Compass lost and rudder broken, drifting, drifting, thoughtlessly.

—Based on a hymn by John Henry Newman

*"With my whole heart have I sought
You; oh, let me not wander from Your commandments! Your word I have* *hidden in my heart, that I might not sin against You. Blessed are You, O LORD!

Teach me Your statutes. With my lips I have declared all the judgments of Your mouth. I have rejoiced in the way of Your testimonies, as much as in all riches."*

PSALM 119:10–14

Hard?

A college student asked his preacher, "Do you think there is life on other planets?"

Preacher: "No, I don't think so."

Student: "You mean, all those billions, and billions, and billions of planets out there—don't you think there's life out there?"

Preacher: "No, I really don't think so."

Student: "Then, why did God go to all that trouble to make all that stuff?"

Preacher: "What trouble?"

Thoughts to Ponder

If stores are lowering prices every day, how come nothing is free yet?

We could learn a lot from crayons. Some are sharp, some are pretty, some are dull, some have weird names, and all are different colors. But they all live in the same box.

If not for stress, some days I'd have no energy at all.

Everyone has a photographic memory. Some just don't have film.

If you can't be kind, at least be vague.

If the shoe fits, buy it in every color.

PROVERBS 15:13

A Child's View

A father was at the beach with his children when the four-year-old son ran up to him, grabbed his hand, and led him to the shore where a seagull lay dead in the sand. "Daddy, what happened to him?" the son asked. "He died and went to heaven," the dad replied. The boy thought for a moment and then said, "Did God throw him back down?"

"A time to laugh."

ECCLESIASTES 3:4

Wrong Is Always Wrong

In a time of sagging morals, Satan provides rationalizations for improper behavior. Christians must not be "ignorant of his devices" (2 Corinthians 2:11). Wrong is wrong despite efforts to excuse actions.

Wrong is wrong, even if you do not get caught. From little things like littering the highways and breaking the speed limit to more serious offenses such as adultery and stealing, our society seems to think the only wrong is getting caught. It just isn't so. "The eyes of the Lord are in every place, keeping watch on the evil and the good" (Proverbs 15:3).

Wrong is wrong, even if you do it for a good cause. An honorable purpose does not justify a dishonorable deed. Lying to spare someone's feelings is still lying. Cheating on your taxes is still cheating even if you plan to use that money for charity.

Wrong is wrong, even if others do worse things. It will be little comfort at the judgment, if you should be lost, that others you knew did things considered worse than your sin.

Wrong is wrong, even if it does not bother your conscience. Consciences can be trained to accept wrongdoing, but sin is a transgression of God's law (1 John 3:4), and whoever transgresses God's law sins, even if his conscience approves (cf. Acts 23:1).

Wrong is wrong, even if it is commonly considered acceptable. A Christian is told "do not enter the path of the wicked, and do not walk in the way of evil. Avoid it, do not travel on it; turn away from it and pass on" (Proverbs 4:14–15). "Test all things; hold fast what is good. Abstain from every form of evil" (1 Thessalonians 5:21–22). —Adapted from Pat McGee

The First Three Truths of an Educated Mind

There is a God. Something exists (the universe), therefore something always was, because from nothing comes nothing. If nothing is what always existed, then nothing got to work and created something! But what rational person can believe that? Further, what had always existed was either mind or matter. There are no other possibilities. If it was matter that had always existed, then in time matter either created or evolved into mind (intelligence). Who can believe that?

The reality is that a Supreme Being of intelligence is what (Who) has always existed, and “in the beginning God [the Supreme Being of intelligence] created the heavens and the earth” (Genesis 1:1). “The heavens declare the glory of God; and the firmament shows His handiwork” (Psalms 19:1). “Every house is built by someone, but He who built all things is God” (Hebrews 3:4). Only a fool can deny the existence of God (Psalm 14:1). The atheist needs to use the mind given to him by God and overcome his rejection of God.

Jesus Christ is the Son of God. Christ existed with God from all eternity as the Word. In time, He “became flesh and dwelt among us” (John 1:1–3, 14). He was miraculously conceived by the Holy Spirit in the womb of the virgin Mary (Matthew 1:18–23; Luke 1:26–35). This means “God sent forth His Son, born of a woman” (Galatians 4:4). Jesus allowed Himself to be acknowledged as God’s Son (Matthew 3:17; 16:16; 17:5), something a good and honest man would never do if it were not true!

The Bible is the Word of God. “For this reason we also thank God without ceasing, because when you received the word of God which you heard from us, you welcomed it not as the word of men, but as it is in truth, the word of God, which also effectively works in you who believe” (1 Thessalonians 2:13). “These things we also speak, not in words which man’s wisdom teaches but which the Holy Spirit teaches, comparing spiritual things with spiritual” (1 Corinthians 2:13). Indeed, “All Scripture is given by inspiration of God” (2 Timothy 3:16–17).

What Sign Is on Your Desk?

I have always been drawn to accomplished Americans' quotes and creeds.

The only sign on the desk of former "Meet the Press" moderator, newscaster, author, and attorney Tim Russert reads, "Thou shalt not whine."

There is an abundance of scriptural support for this simple admonition (James 1:2-4; 5:9; 1 Peter 4:9; Romans 12:2; Philippians 4:6; 2 Thessalonians 3:11-18).

"Thou shalt not whine" is right there: "Do all things without complaining and disputing" (Philippians 2:14). "Let no corrupt word proceed out of your mouth, but what is good for necessary edification, that it may impart grace to the hearers" (Ephesians 4:29).

Former Alabama head football coach Gene Stallings had but one sign on his desk: "Never confuse activity with accomplishments—it is results that count." John wrote, "Whatever is born of God overcomes the world. And this is the victory that has overcome the world—our faith" (1 John 5:4). Paul wrote, "I can do all things through Christ who strengthens me" (Philippians 4:13).

President Harry Truman had but one sign on his desk: "The buck stops here." Our eternal reward cannot be passed on. We shall all be judged individually, not collectively. Galatians 6:5 says, "Each one shall bear his own load." Paul echoed, "We must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ, that each one may receive the things done in the body, according to what he has done, whether good or bad" (2 Corinthians 5:10).

Many others displayed desk signs that could have simply been quoted from the Bible. Eleanor Roosevelt may have thought of Philippians 4:13 when she displayed these words: "No one can make you feel inferior without your consent." Rosa Parks said, "Memories of our lives, of our works, and our deeds will continue in others" which might be based on "Train up a child in the way he should go, and when he is old he will not depart from it" (Proverbs 22:6). Vince Lombardi said, "It's not whether you get knocked down, it's whether you get up." Luke 1:37 tells us that "with God nothing will be impossible." "All who desire to live godly in Christ Jesus will suffer persecution" (2 Timothy 3:12).

Refreshing, uplifting, and affirming Scriptures can guide us on our way, just like the signs on our desks. What sign is on your desk? —Bill Lundy, Cedartown, Georgia

"Let us not grow weary while doing good, for in due season we shall reap if we do not lose heart."

The Obituary of Jesus

Jesus Christ, 33, of Nazareth, died Friday on Mount Calvary, also known as Golgotha, Place of the Skull.

Betrayed by the apostle Judas into the hands of His Jewish enemies, Jesus was executed by the Romans, by order of Governor Pontius Pilate. The cause of death was crucifixion, a method of severe torture that resulted in death from a combination of loss of blood, exposure, and asphyxia.

Jesus Christ, a descendant of Abraham, was a member of the house of David. He was the step-son of the late Joseph, a carpenter of Nazareth, and Mary, His devoted mother. Jesus was born in a stable in the city of Bethlehem Judea. He is survived by His mother Mary, His brothers and sisters, His faithful apostles, numerous local disciples, and many followers elsewhere.

Jesus was self-educated and spent much of His adult life working as a teacher. Up until the time of His death, Jesus was sharing good news, challenging religious hypocrisy, touching the lonely, feeding the hungry, and helping the poor.

Jesus was most noted for telling parables about His Father's kingdom and performing miracles such as feeding 5,000 people with five loaves of bread and two fish and stilling a raging storm. It is also commonly reported that He healed many patients, including a man who was born blind.

On the day before His death, He held a last supper celebrating the Passover Feast, at which He foretold His death.

The body was quickly buried in a stone grave, which was donated by Joseph of Arimathea, a loyal friend of the family. A stone was rolled in front of the tomb, and, by order of Pontius Pilate, Roman soldiers were put on guard.

"There they crucified Him."

JOHN 19:18

Hardships are something we all face in life, but when they strike unexpectedly and seemingly all at once, it can leave us feeling abandoned, confused, and even punished. In moments like these, we often wonder, “Does God see what I’m going through?” or “Does He care?” We read passages like 1 Corinthians 10:13 or 2 Peter 2:9 and ask, “Where is my escape through all of these trials and hardships?”

One of the most powerful examples of enduring hardship in the Bible is found in the story of Job. He was a man who tried to do what was right in all things—he feared God, turned away from evil, and tried to live with integrity. Yet in a blink, everything was ripped away. He lost his children. His wealth vanished. His body was covered in painful sores. Even his wife and friends turned on him. Can you imagine? It wasn’t just a bad day—it was wave after wave of devastation. And maybe that hits close to home. Maybe you’ve had seasons where everything seemed to fall apart. You’ve tried to do the right thing, stay faithful, serve others—and still, the storm came.

Often, when we think of Job, we focus on all the pain and suffering he endured. But have you ever stopped to consider what God thought of Job, and what that might mean for us? In Job 1, we’re invited into a heavenly scene. A divine council is taking place, and Satan is there among the angels. Then God says something that should stop us in our tracks: “Have you considered my servant Job, that there is none like him on the earth, a blameless and upright man, who fears God and turns away from evil?” (Job 1:8). God was bragging about Job! Think about that. The Creator of the universe looked at this one man—an ordinary man—and said, “Look at him. I’m proud of him.”

While Job’s friends assumed he must’ve done something wrong, and his wife told him to curse God and die, God saw something deeper: faithfulness, integrity, and quiet devotion. Job would offer sacrifices and pray for his children, just in case they had sinned. He did this all the time, not for attention or praise, but because he loved God. Job’s wife didn’t notice. His friends didn’t understand. But God did.

God was proud of Job. And here is the part that should encourage us, because God sees the same in you. He notices your faithfulness. He sees your quiet sacrifices, your hidden prayers, the energy you pour into others without expecting anything in return. When you resist temptation, when you choose honesty, when you give generously or pray fervently, it doesn’t go unnoticed. And it brings joy to the heart of God. Jesus affirmed this in Matthew 6:2–6, reminding us not to chase public praise, but to serve in secret, where “your Father who sees in secret will reward you.” He sees. He knows. He honors. And He trusts you more than you might realize. How do I know? Well, let’s look back at Job’s account.

Job’s account takes an astonishing turn when Satan accuses Job of being faithful only because God was protecting him. And God doesn’t argue at all. He simply says, “Behold, all that he has is in your hand. Only against him do not stretch out your hand” (Job 1:12). Then, in Job 2:6, God tells Satan, “Behold, he is in your hand; only spare his life.” In other words, God allowed Satan to test Job because He believed Job’s faith wasn’t conditional. He knew Job wouldn’t walk away when life got hard. Have you ever thought about the fact that God might trust in you the same way? First Corinthians 10:13 says, “No temptation has overtaken you that is not common to man. God is faithful, and he will not let you be tempted beyond your ability, but with the temptation he will also provide the way of escape, that you may be able to endure it.” God allows us to be tested, not to destroy us, but to show that our faith is real. Every trial is an opportunity for you to prove God right—that you love Him not just for blessings, but for who He is. That you not only believe in God, but you believe God will do as He promises, and you can rely on Him.

The ending of Job’s story might be the most overlooked part, but it’s deeply important. After God speaks to Job and shifts his perspective, three incredible things happen: God rebukes Job’s friends, God restores Job’s status, and God blesses Job more than ever before! Job 42:12 says, “And the Lord blessed the latter days of Job more than his beginning.” That’s more than just a happy ending, it’s a promise. When we stay faithful, even through the hardest moments, God honors that. He lifts us up. He blesses us. Paul says in Colossians 3:23–24, “Whatever you do, work heartily, as for the Lord and not for men, knowing that from the Lord you will receive the inheritance as your reward.”

Maybe you’re in a season of blessing, or maybe you’re in the middle of the storm. Either way, ask yourself, “What does God see in me right now?” If you’re hurting, that doesn’t mean you’ve failed; it might mean God trusts you more than you think. He’s watching. He knows. And like Job, your story isn’t over yet. So stand firm. Remain faithful. Keep praying. Keep loving.

And remember that our Heavenly Father brags about people like you. “Resist the devil, and he will flee from you” (James 4:7).
